Institutional development, management and administration

Founding Professor (1972), Department of Economics, Birkbeck College, University of London.

Co-founder (1978) of Centre d'Economie Quantitative et Comparative at the Ecole des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales (with subsequent mergers became Paris School of Economics).

At the origin of three key European institutions dealing with economic policy: CEPR, Economic Policy, VoxEU (a CEPR initiative).

CEPR: Founding Director (1983), then President of the Centre for Economic Policy Research (www.cepr.org). The President is responsible for external relations, fund-raising, major policy decisions, and appointments. CEPR is now a network of over 1500 rigorously selected researchers, primarily academics resident in Europe. It publishes over 1000 Discussion Papers annually, conference volumes, the review Economic Policy, and a range of monographs and reports. It runs 70-80 conferences and workshops annually, throughout Europe. The operating budget of CEPR is around € 5 million. 25 central banks and 30 corporations support the Centre. From 2016: Founder and Honorary President of CEPR, with no executive responsibilities.

Economic Policy*: Co-founder (1985) of the joint CEPR-Maison des Sciences de l'Homme initiative, Economic Policy (www.economic-policy.org) and Co-Chair of its Board of Governors from its inception to 2017. This is one of the two main journals (with Brookings Papers on Economic Activity) publishing economic policy research. Economic Policy has for the past twenty years been among the top economics journals worldwide in 'impact factor'. It is now published by Oxford University Press.

VoxEU: A major CEPR innovation was the policy portal www.VoxEU.org. Launched in 2007, it is now the top website carrying short but in-depth, research-based analyses of economic issues from a wide range of contributors, most affiliated with CEPR. Although VoxEU is not a blog, nor an aggregator, one ranking of economics blogs by influence puts it at the top, another in third place.
